

Conference Description

The purpose of this conference is to provide up to date clinically useful information to rheumatologists including the most recent advances and information on the pathogenesis, diagnosis and management of selected rheumatologic diseases.

Objectives

At the conclusion of this educational activity, participants should be able to:

- recognize the shared pathways of Psoriasis and Psoriatic Arthritis, know the pre-clinical signs of Psoriatic Arthritis, recognize signs for early diagnosis of Psoriasis, and formulate targeted treatment strategies for their patients with psoriatic arthritis.
- recognize soft tissue pain syndromes, understand the Pathophysiology of pain in rheumatic conditions, understand non-pharmacological and pharmacological treatments for rheumatic pain, and prescribe the most efficient treatment plan for their patient.
- recognize data that supports changes to our current approach to the treatment of patients with granulomatosis with polyangiitis and microscopic polyangiitis, and utilize these new treatment paradigms.
- describe the four factors that differentiate “good work”, discuss the relationship between provider resilience and patient outcomes, discuss team dynamics in light of keys from motivational psychology, describe 4 phases of team development, list three ways to boost both individual and team resilience, and apply knowledge learned to your practice and efficiently treating patients.
- identify patients with SLE at highest risk for pregnancy complications and effectively counsel these patients about contraception, and select medications to help optimize the probability of a healthy pregnancy outcome for both patient and baby.
- comprehend the unique manifestations of undifferentiated Spondylarthropathy vs AS, discuss the common features of the Spondylarthropathy family and role of HLA B27, know the extra axial manifestations of Spondylarthropathy, and employ treat to target options for Undifferentiated Spondylarthropathy to enhance the care of their patients.
- define Biosimilar products, understand the impact of drug naming and labeling, understand the current FDA guidance, and know the science of producing a Biosimilar product.
- increase comprehensions in diagnosing and treating unusual forms of vasculitis and employ efficient treatment options based on the patient's case.
- implement treatment recommendations to enhance therapy for challenging patients' rheumatic conditions.
